Alexandria Gasette.

STURY AY EVENING, JULY 22 1913.

HAED ON THE PARSON.-Just after the battle of Perryville, in October, 1862, Dr. Savage, a strong Union man, was at one of his appointments to baptize some children. There was a large crowd, and a study southern matron brought her four children to the altar. "Name this child," said the Union preacher, laying his hand on the boy's nead. "Simon Bolivar Buckner," was the reply, which caused a smile to come over the congregation, but the brave preacher went on with his duty. "Name this child, taking the next in order. "Pierre Gustave Toutant Beauregard," was the answer, and the smile grew into a snicker, while Dr. Savage be-came red in the face. He baptisad the young namesake of the great engineer Soldier, and went on with the ceremony.
"Name this one," he gasped, reaching for the third. "Albert Sidney Johnston," came the answer. The smile became audible, and the preacher apo-plectic. Heaving a sigh of relief, he took the fourth child, a little girl, whose gender he fondly supposed would pre-clude a continuation of heroic reproduction, and said: "Name this child."
"Mary Stonewall Jackson Lee," came the response that set the congregation in a roar, while the Union parson thought he had held in his arms the whole Southern Confederacy.
